

Breakfast and Seminar Program
Annual Scholarship Awards
Wednesday May 28, 2008
Boston College Club
100 Federal Street Boston, MA
7:30 A.M. – Registration & Breakfast

Please register today to join the Massachusetts Chapter of CFMA for a breakfast and educational seminar on Wednesday, May 28, 2008 at the Boston College Club located at 100 Federal Street, Boston, MA where we will have as our guest speaker Matthew Bud who will speak on:

Strengthening the Ties: the CFO – CEO Relationship

The Construction Financial Management Association of Massachusetts is pleased to welcome Matt Bud, of The Financial Executives Consulting Group (The FECG), as he discusses the diverse personalities of CFOs and CEOs. This session will explore the yin and yang of this relationship, focusing on why this union is often the most critical one of the senior management team, and how CFOs can take charge of building this key relationship.

This is a great opportunity to bring a colleague or co-worker, but especially the Chief Executive Officer and/or President of your organization for an informational and educational CFMA experience. I encourage all of you to invite as your guest your insurance/bonding agent, banker, CPA and subcontractors to introduce them to the benefits of membership in CFMA.

Matt Bud has been a Managing Partner of The Financial Executives Consulting Group (The FECG) since its founding in January, 1999. Since 1996 he has also served as Chairman of The Financial Executives Networking Group (The FENG), an organization founded in 1991 and dedicated to providing senior level financial executives with a forum to share job opportunities and experiences.

Among the first to recognize the power of the Internet as a communication tool, Matt has grown The FENG from a Westport, Connecticut based organization of 64 members in December of 1996 to 28,000+ members spread across the entire United States today. The FENG also boasts a significant number of International members, all connected on a daily basis through outbound e-mail.

Featured in the January 21, 2003 edition of The Wall Street Journal, The FENG is now a nationally recognized organization for financial professionals. Through Matt's efforts, members of this "circle of friends" are now so well respected in the retained search community that all of the major firms contact him directly when they have appropriate searches.

For 9 years Matt was Chief Financial Officer of Levine, Huntley, Schmidt & Beaver, at one time the 29th largest U.S. based Advertising Agency.

In addition, Matt has 15 years of experience in Publishing and Broadcasting, 6 years with The Thomson Corporation and 9 years with CBS, Inc., and 2 years of retailing experience with B. Altman & Company.

Matt has an MBA in Finance from New York University and a B.S. in Finance from Indiana University.

As part of our CFMA Breakfast Meeting, we will be presenting our Annual Scholarship awards to two worthy students looking to pursue a career in construction financial management.

You now have the ability to register and pay via credit or debit card for all CFMA of MA events online by going to:

<http://www.cfma.org/MASS/index.htm>

Please note that seating is limited and reservations will be accepted on a first come, first serve basis. Reservations will only be accepted until Wednesday May 21, 2008 as we need to provide a list of attendees to the BC Club for security purposes. You must be pre-registered for this event in order to attend.

I encourage all CFMA of MA members and guests to use the new online registration and payment method. The new registration and payment feature will eliminate the need to confirm your attendance with either myself or Tom Bettle but if you choose to continue with the use of paper and the mailing of checks you can RSVP to Tom Bettle at tbettle@ggreene.com and forward your check payable to CFMA Massachusetts along with this reply form to:
